▲ ECUPL

Founded in 1952， East China University of Political Science and Law ("ECUPL") is among the first group of universities of politics and law established by the People's Republic of China. Twin campuses are located in Changning and Songjiang district respectively.It has 22 undergraduate programs, 20 master's programs, 10 Ph.D. programs, and a post-doctoral mobile station. During the past sixty years, ECUPL has developed into a multidisciplinary university that, while focusing on legal education, offers a variety of other disciplines such as political science, economics, management, humanities and computer science. With an international reputation as "The Oriental Pearl in legal education," the University has been admitting international students since 1984.International Exchange Center and International Culture Exchange School are in charge of admission and administration, as well as exchange with overseas institutions.

▲ Shanghai

Changning Campus of ECUPL is adjacent to Zhongshan park commercial area. Ten minutes walking will take you to the hub of several lines of metro station. Shanghai is becoming and International financial / trade and shipping center with the superb public service system. Since 1920s, Shanghai had been known as "Oriental Paris" with the collision and blending of different cultures. Great changes take place in this dynamic city everyday. Shanghai, which was the first city in far east, will achieve more than the past glory.

▲ Program History

ECUPL has a long history of joint legal programs with overseas institutions. Since 1984, ECUPL cooperated with Willamette University (US.) to develop Chinese Law Program. The program admits students from law schools in US., and the credits completed by the participants during the program are recognized by American Bar Association. ECUPL also operated similar programs with University of Sydney (Australia) and University of Leeds (UK). The distinguished faculty of ECUPL has extensive teaching and research experience. The Chinese Law Program helps international students overcome the language barrier and meets the increasing demands of international students for Chinese legal education.

▲ Goal of the Program

The program awards a Master's degree in law and provides opportunity of internship in the fields of international investment, international trade, or relevant Chinese law to promote students' abilities in dealing with legal issues concerning trade and investment in or with China. The primary focus of the program is on international law, the economic law of China, and Chinese legal practice.After graduation, students can enter into legal practice involving China and international trade, or choose to apply for a doctoral degree in law.

WORDS FROM ALUMNA

MERTENOVA YENLIK

Graduate of LL.M. Program, ECUPL (2012)

Working at Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Republic of Kazakhstan

China -- it's an amazing country with beautiful and developed cities and metropolitan areas. One of these cities for me is Shanghai – I'm struck by its splendor, variety, multiethnic and rich culture. This city is fascinating. In this city I live, learn, and meet many interesting people. Here I have many friends from all over the world. Working in an office on the 32nd floor during my internship time, from my window I could see the entire city, about which I can justifiably say that I found myself immersed in it and I succumbed to "Shanghai's charms."

Prestigious East China University of Political Science and Law is the whole universe for me, and a special part of my life education that gave me not only knowledge from excellent teachers but also wonderful friends. The University gave me a sense of freedom, strength and confidence. As the great Kazakh poet, philosopher and founder of Kazakh written literature Abai said: "Only intellect, science, will, and conscience elevate the human."

Enrollment Guide for AMIF in UIBE

I Program Introduction

The Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB) Master of International Finance (AMIF) program is one of the Youth of Excellence Scheme of China (YES CHINA) master programs sponsored by Chinese government scholarship. It is a key program entrusted by Chinese Ministry of Education to the University of International Business and Economics (UIBE).

This program is for senior governmental officials and senior business managers from the member country of the Asian Infrastructure Investment Bank (AIIB). It goes with China's national strategy of One Belt and One Road, aiming to provide talent support for accelerating the economic development and regional economic integration of Asian countries, as well as to reserve talent resources for AIIB to develop its continuous core competence among international multilateral financing institutions. The program is focused to train policy makers and executors with global vision for regional cooperation, financial administrative talents to accelerate the integration of Asian economy, and entrepreneurs to promote the communication and cooperation within Asia.

The program mainly relies on the School of Banking and Finance of University of International Business and Economics for its strong faculty and rich experience in teaching. After one-year's study (taught in English), students will have a systematic command of theory and practice on developmental international financial cooperation, gain a better awareness of the One Belt One Road national economic environment, and get a deeper understanding of the Chinese finance, law, culture and politic system.

II Introduction to UIBE

The University of International Business and Economics (UIBE), situated in the northeast of Beijing, was founded in 1951. UIBE is a national key university under the leadership of the Ministry of Education and the Ministry of Commerce, and is one of the most important institutes for talents' training and scientific research on global economic and business development.

PEKING UNIVERSITY LAW SCHOOL

YOUTH OF EXCELLENCE SCHEME OF CHINA (YES CHINA)

- LL.M. PROGRAM IN CHINESE LAW

Chinese Government Scholarship

2017

AN OVERVIEW OF THE LL.M. PROGRAM

The Master of Laws (LL.M.) Program in Chinese Law is a Graduate Law program offered by Peking University Law School, focusing on Chinese civil and commercial law. The language of instruction is English.

Peking University is a pre-eminent university in China, best well-known for her long history, rich culture, distinguished alumni, enlightened education policies and exciting campus life. Established in 1904, the law school has become a leading institution for legal education and a potent force for legal development in China. The Law school frequently joins forces with the government, law firms and business community in the development of cutting edge legal, social and commercial policies. The Law School also has many international links and partnership programs with leading universities and legal institutions around the world.

With China's rapid economic growth and growing presence on the world stage, the knowledge of Chinese law has become an essential resource for international students and legal professionals engaged with China. Peking University Law School established the LL.M. Program in Chinese Law to address the needs of an international community seeking a comprehensive and systematic understanding of Chinese law from a first-rate legal institution.

This program provides an intensive instruction in Chinese law. Leading faculty members will offer Chinese law courses specially designed for international students. Teaching will comprise of both lectures and small-group seminars. In addition, Peking University regularly attracts top scholars and practitioners in Chinese law and students will have first-hand access to such distinguished presenters. There are also optional subjects in non-law areas such as politics, economy and society to facilitate students' understanding of China's culture. Moreover, courses on Mandarin Chinese are available for the improvement of language skill and adaption to local residence.

The LL.M. Program offers assistance to students in seeking internship opportunities at top law firms and other legal institutions in China, with a hope to avail them with a better comprehension of the Chinese legal system and its cultural underpinnings. Through the program, students can establish a solid foundation for their career development relating to China.

This degree is an equivalent of Master of Laws degree currently offered to Chinese students. No more than 30 students will be admitted into this program in the year of 2017. The mode of attendance is full-time in one year. Academic faculty advisors will be assigned to each student for his/her study and degree thesis. Chinese student partners in Peking University Law School are also available to offer help.

QUOTE FROM PROGRAM ALUMNI

Shinsuke Yakura (LL.M., 2008)
Partner, Orrick, Herrington & Sutcliffe LLP

I had studied in the U.S., U.K., as well as Japan before came to Peking University. With the wonderful track record of making a difference and engaging with the world, PKU Law School didn't disappoint me. Many of the teachers there have lived and studied overseas, so they had a good understanding of what I wanted to get out of my time at Beijing. They were also very helpful and generous with their time. Moreover, classmates from many different countries and backgrounds formed a diverse and cosmopolitan study body within a supportive environment. One of the many advantages I gained during my time there was the new friendships and professional contacts I made.

In addition to academic courses, the generic research and transferable skills also enhanced my future career opportunity. The internship I did at local law firms in Beijing prepared and benefited me a lot for the China related practice. The investment in both time and money that I made in doing the LL.M. at Peking University has already been repaid to me many times over. The LL.M. program has not only opened many professional doors for me, perhaps more importantly it has resulted in binding friendships and relationships that I truly value and which I am sure will continue to grow and deepen over the rest of my life.

Gavin Denton (LL.M., 2011)
Founder & Arbitrator, Arbitration Chambers Hong Kong

Taking the LL.M. at Peking University was one of the most important decisions I ever made in terms of my personal life and my career. While I had to give up full-time work for a year and invest time in writing my thesis, that investment it is already starting to pay huge dividends in terms of my practice as an international arbitrator. There are very few western trained lawyers with any genuine understanding of Chinese law, history and culture and by spending two years in China, I was fortunate enough to begin to gain an understanding of China's past and to learn about the development of law and the increasingly important role that law will play in shaping China's future.

As an international arbitrator dealing mainly with Chinese related disputes, the LL.M. has been invaluable both in terms of providing me with a solid foundation in Chinese law, but also in developing a network of leading Chinese academics and practitioners that I can call upon to discuss issues of Chinese law when I need to. Besides the obvious academic benefits of the LL.M. program, spending time in Beijing provided me with the opportunity to learn more about China's history, culture and its people. Trying to develop an understanding of Chinese law without the necessary context provided by these other fundamental aspects of Chinese society would be almost impossible. And such context can really only be understood and appreciated by spending time in China. To those of you considering doing the LL.M. at Peking University, I wholeheartedly recommend the course to you and wish you all much success in the future.

CREDIT AND THESIS REQUIREMENTS

Students are required to enroll in a minimum of 36 credits including all required courses and pass all course examinations.
